Income and Expenditure

The total income was £32,617. Full details are provided in the table below.

The large sum this year was due to member payments for the Iceland field trip (£14,000) held in June 2023, and the Isle of Man field trip (£12,300) due to take place in June 2024.

Some members increase their dues with a donation, so the subscription + donation income, including advance payments for 2024-25, was £2,156 for 150 paid memberships.

The hybrid (Zoom/in-person) talks generated £876: 19 members donated £682, and £194 was collected at the door. The mean donation was £36, and the range was £4 to £150. More than half (10) of members gave £25, the suggested annual donation. The expenses for the talks amounted to £114, generating a 'profit' of £762.

The total expenditure was £25,383. Full details are provided in the table below.

The income & expenditure for social events/field trips straddled several tax years. It should be noted that the cocktail party (3/23) and Sedgwick Dinner (3/24) broke even, however the Xmas Party (including the raffle) made a profit of £395. The Iceland trip generated £772 in donations.

Museum Donation

FOSM now gives the Sedgwick Museum a donation at the start of the financial year to facilitate the Museum's forward planning. The donation for 2023-24 was £6,000.

Bank/Building Society Balances at 31/03/24:

Barclays current account: the starting balance was £13,561. The closing balance was £20,600; of this £11,250 was on hold for the Isle of Man trip, leaving a working balance of £9,350.

Cambridge Building Society: the closing balance was £13,314. Annual interest was £294.

5. Chair's report

The Chair gave a brief report, thanking everyone on the committee for all their work, particularly Alex Liu for all the varied and interesting talks, and then members for creating such a unique organisation.

She confirmed that there was no entry fee for the evening as it was the AGM.

She noted that this would be her last year as Chair as her 6 years were up. She expressed her view that it would be preferable for the next Chair to have connections in the Department.

Production of the next issue of the Trilobite was on-going.

MS thanked Mike Tuke for organising the trip to Bawdsey and King's Dyke, Rosie Welling for her exhibition of Pebbles, and Gidon and Freya for their wonderful trip to Iceland.

MS thanked Liz Hide for arranging all the zoom activities and meeting rooms.

6. Future events

- Isle of Man trip: Mike Tuke reported that since 21 people had applied the trip could go ahead – taking a maximum of 20 people. The guide would be a trained geologist who knows the island well and will take us on different trips. All island transport by coach has been arranged, and places at a hotel have been reserved. Individuals will have to get themselves to the island.

7. Museum Report

- Liz Hyde gave the report for the year for the Sedgwick Museum.
- In brief, the museum was bouncing back, with enough funds and an excellent group of supporting staff and volunteers to feel able to carry on with new exhibitions and ideas. Particular people to thank were Sarah Hammond for her work on the newsletter, and Sally for increasing their public engagement programme.
- The microfossil activity was going well, as had the Earth Traces soundscape exhibit.
- The Butterfly Effect exhibit would be up for a year and was gaining national coverage.
- Thanks to the special extra money she would be able to fund 4 people for 2-4 week placements in addition to the 5 normal summer placements, equating to 18 student weeks in both front- and back-of-house.
- Liz sincerely thanked the Friends for the monetary gifts that enabled all of this.

8. AOB

There being no other business or questions,
the meeting closed at 6.37pm.
